DARCY GOSHORN

Learning Design • Faculty Development • Web Development

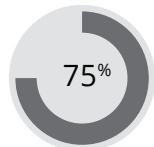

Summary

I'm Darcy Goshorn, a learning designer. I've worked in that turbulent land between education and technology for 12 years. After starting my career as a high school language arts and journalism teacher in 2004, I shared my passion for learning and teaching with primary, secondary & college educators from Pennsylvania to Florida, and even in frozen Oslo, Norway. I currently design online learning at St. Petersburg College and teach at Saint Leo University.

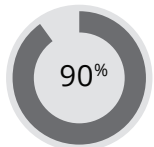

Objectives

I am on a quest to rid the world of bad learning by thoughtfully designing and applying instructional technology and data. I produce accessible, responsive learning objects and events with enthusiasm, creativity, and determination.

Work Experience

19 MOS Nov 2014 - Present Instructional Design Specialist
St. Petersburg College, Clearwater, Florida

I manage the design of online courses, including project management, web front-end development, learning object development, and Quality Matters course reviews. I also provide training, course development consultations and support to faculty teaching online classes.

29 MOS Jan 2014 - Present Adjunct Professor
Saint Leo University, Saint Leo, Florida

I deliver online instruction for EDU 228 Educational Technology for undergraduate students. I also facilitate FDT 113 Teaching in the 21st Century and FDT 105 Active Learning faculty development workshops.

28 MOS Jul 2012 - Oct 2014 Instructional Technologist
Saint Leo University, Saint Leo, Florida

I supported faculty in effective instructional practice using classroom and video-conferencing technology, including consulting and training services to faculty in the development of effective teaching and learning strategies for face-to-face, blended, and online learning environments.

12 MOS Jul 2011 - Jun 2012 Coordinator of Learning Technology
Oslo International School, Oslo, Norway

I executed strategic planning, including writing a technology vision that supports both student and staff learning. I also coordinated technical solutions, resource management, teaching staff support and training, and learning technology staff leadership.

83 MOS Jun 2004 - Jun 2011 Instructional Technology Integrator & Instructor
East Pennsboro Area School District, Enola, Pennsylvania

I managed and supported all varieties of instructional technology. I taught, modeled, and evaluated the effective integration of technology into the daily tasks of faculty. I also managed grant compliance. Other duties included theater technology management and language arts and journalism instruction.

36 MOS Jul 2008 - Aug 2011 Web Designer & Executive Board Member
Pennsylvania School Press Association, Harriburg, Pennsylvania

I designed and maintained the web presence of the Pennsylvania School Press Association, whose mission is supporting scholastic journalism throughout the Commonwealth. This was a volunteer position, which included a leadership role on the association's Executive Board of Directors.
